CONQUERING POLIO ... Only a few months ago little Donna Broos was struck critically by polio. The disease proved fatal in a very few hours to her four-year-old twin sister who also had been struck overnight. But Donna is home again with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Broos, 1001 Sartori, and while it will take about a year, the doctors are optimistic about her complete recovery. The Broos said that there were not enough words to praise the Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for its outstanding services. They hope everyone will support the March of Dimes to the fullest.

Detectives Capture Fugitives

A fugitive from a North Carolina prison and three persons suspected of safe-burglary were arrested Tuesday night by Detective Capt. Ernie Ashton and Sgt. Percy Bennett, following a tip from North Carolina authorities.

Arrested were John Monroe Weaver, 37, who had served 10 years of a 14-year sentence for robbery; James Oscar Black, 29, Ray C. Correll, 28, and his wife, Ida Mae, 32, on suspicion of safe burglary. Weaver will be extradited but there is still doubt as to the status of the others.

The two Torrance detectives went to the North Torrance home where the group had been staying since the latter part of December. They arrested the woman and then arrested the men as they returned to the house.

INSPECTORS INVESTIGATE POST OFFICE

United States post office inspectors are now in their second week investigating conditions in the local post office. The inspectors could not reveal what their investigation disclosed so far, stating that all official announcements must come from the Department in Washington.

While it was admitted that faults have been found in the local post office, there was no indication on the part of the inspectors whether these faults were of a minor or major character.

Some of the carriers have been interviewed and some are putting their complaints into writing at this time to be submitted to the inspectors, according to a reliable source.

'53 Building Record Hits All-Time High

The all-time 1953 building record in Torrance which reached $29,315,265 represents approximately $700,000 worth of construction per person in this city of about 45,000 population.

As has been the pattern for the past five years, the majority of the total was made up of dwellings in one of the greatest home building booms ever seen. The permits included an estimated 2500 houses.

Industrial and commercial permits were minute by comparison in a city attempting to maintain a balance between homes and factories, however. Less than $5,000,000 of the total was for industrial and commercial facilities. Largest of these was for a cracking unit at the General Petroleum Corp. and initial buildings at the Union Carbide Co.

Further development of the $29,000,000 Union Carbide plant is expected to boost the industrial percentage during 1954. Other industrial are foreseen by city officials and the Torrance Chamber of Commerce.

Location
Most of the home building was in the south and north sections of the city. The largest under way is the 1250-unit project by the Ellinwood Corp., just west of Walteria. Construction of various types

Income tax forms, both state and federal, will again be available at the Torrance Chamber of Commerce, 1345 El Prado this year.

Last year the Chamber passed out approximately 25,000 copies and expects to pass out many more this year. Arrangements are being made with the San Pedro office of the Bureau of Internal Revenue to have a representative at the Chamber office at a later date to offer free help to anyone having trouble with income tax returns.

A representative from the Franchise Tax Board will also be at the Chamber office at a later date to assist with California State Tax, as has previously been done in the past. Watch this newspaper for dates.

Water Level Measures Proposed

The West Basin water supply is dwindling critically and the intrusion of salt water into the underground supply is getting serious. The West Basin Water Association is, therefore, considering a tax in order to raise funds to keep the water level constant. A decision in this matter will be made by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors Friday, January 29, at 10 a.m. in the Hall of Records. The Torrance water supply will be seriously affected by the success or failure of this issue, according to Angus McVicar, superintendent of the Torrance Water Department.

Superior Court To Hear Case

Round two of the Beckel-Hamilton tussle found Louis Beckel turning the tables on the Torrance Police Department when he charged that he had been "worked over" on three different occasions while in the custody of the local police station.

These disclosures were made at a preliminary hearing, January 8, at which time Louis Beckel, 29, of 21011 Shearer, and his sister, Mrs. Lydia E. Alvarado, 42, of the same address, pleaded not guilty to charges of assaulting a Torrance police officer with the intent to do great bodily harm while the officer was guarding the Ellinwood tract. The case was transferred to the Superior Court in Long Beach, January 23.

Contradictions

Completely contradictory statements exist concerning the beating suffered by Officer Miles Hamilton at Beckel's hands and all subsequent events.

Beckel maintains that he was beaten up on three different occasions during the night of Saturday, January 2, when he
